

TRENDWATCH

LUXE LEISURE

Not your average activewear—upgrade sporty silhouettes by giving them the upmarket treatment this spring.

By Emily Hannon

Cade sunglasses in Gold & Pink Wash, $380, Oliver Peoples

The Ascot small satin bag in Pale Sage, $990, The Row

Peach and brown shear sock, $100, Fendi

Pannier bag, $2,340, Marni

Techno Popeline sports caban, $2,490, cotton special sports vest, $1,490, tulle Illusione top, $9,900, and Hammered satin shorts, $8,500, all at Valentino.

Vicky visor in peach, $125, by Eugenia Kim at Barneys New York and eugeniakim.com

Calf leather City Up sneakers, $640, Emilio Pucci

NAIL POLISH PHOTO COURTESY OF EDIE PARKER

Lauren B x Edie Parker limited-edition Nail Couture in Central Pink, set of five polishes for $100

BEAUTY BUZZ

NAILED IT!

Brett Heyman of Manhattan handbag label Edie Parker and Los Angeles-based Lauren B. Beauty have collaborated to launch a limited-edition capsule collection of nail polishes inspired by the Big Apple. The kit of five polishes embodies Edie Parker's trademark wit and Lauren B.'s nails-are-your-best-accessory philosophy. "When Lauren B. approached us about collaborating on a line of nail polish inspired by Edie Parker bags, we said yes immediately," Heyman says. "After all, there is no better complement to a clutch than a fresh manicure." NYC serves as muse for the colors, which include the golden Bright Lights, creamy Central Pink, fiery Concrete Jungle, rainbow Stonewall Inn and nude The Great White Way. The confetti-colored nail polishes lend themselves to an empowering manicure with an Empire State of mind. $100, 781 Madison Ave., laurenbeauty.com —Luisa Horwitz